

HCL AI Employee Assistant - HR Policy

Version: 2026.1

Department: Human Resources

1. Probation Policy

All newly hired employees are placed on a probation period of 6 months. Performance, attendance, and conduct are reviewed before confirmation of employment.

2. Performance Appraisal

Performance reviews are conducted once every year. Employees are evaluated on goals, technical skills, teamwork, communication, and overall contribution.

3. Promotion Policy

Promotions are based on business requirements, performance ratings, leadership potential, and skill development. A promotion is not guaranteed solely based on years of service.

4. Code of Ethics

Employees must maintain honesty, professionalism, confidentiality, and respect in the workplace. Any conflict of interest should be disclosed to the reporting manager.

5. Anti-Harassment Policy

The organization follows a zero-tolerance policy toward workplace harassment, bullying, discrimination, or abusive behavior. Employees can confidentially report concerns to the HR department.

6. Employee Grievance Process

Step 1: Discuss the issue with your reporting manager.
Step 2: If unresolved, raise a grievance through HR.
Step 3: HR investigates and communicates the final decision.

7. Notice Period & Exit

The standard notice period is 60 days. Employees must complete knowledge transfer, return company assets, and complete exit formalities before the last working day.

8. Learning & Development

Employees are encouraged to complete mandatory compliance training and participate in technical learning programs provided by the organization.